

Mr. Hubbard's newsletter February 6, 2024

In my preschool PE class for the next couple of weeks we will be playing tag games that work on dodging and fleeing. We will also be doing games that are using hula hoops. In art class for the next couple of weeks we will be doing valentine's day projects and monster drawing. During their library time we will be checking books out and I will be reading books to them.

In my kindergarten PE class for the next couple of weeks we will be playing tag games that work on dodging and fleeing. We will also be doing games that are using hula hoops. In art class for the next couple of weeks we will be doing valentine's day projects and monster drawings. During their library time we will be checking books out and I will be reading some books to them in class. During their library time for the next few weeks they will be using the website code.org.

In my 1st-2nd grade PE class for the next couple of weeks we will be playing tag games that work on dodging and fleeing. We will also be doing games that are using bean bags to tag and working on pulling flags to tag people. In art class they will be working on valentines day projects and crayola people. During their library time we will be checking books out. During their library time for the next few weeks they will be learning how to use the website called code.org

In my 3rd-4th grade PE class we will be doing kickball and invasion games. In art class for the next couple of weeks we will be doing op art hearts and Warhol doughnut art projects. During their library time they will be using the website called code.org to learn more about coding

In my 5th-6th grade PE we will be doing kickball games and invasion games. In art class for the next couple of weeks they will be doing block letters, love drawing and candy pop art. During their library time we will be learning about using the green screen and making digital videos using the website wevideo.

In my 7th-8th grade PE class we will be doing kickball games and invasion games. In art class for the next couple of weeks they will be doing block letters, love drawing and candy pop art. During their library time we will be learning about using the green screen and making digital videos using the website wevideo.